A close-up photograph of a car's headlamp assembly. The image shows the metal housing of the headlamp and the clear lens. A red arrow points to a small, dark, rectangular latch tab on the metal housing. The surrounding area includes various mechanical parts, some of which are green. A yellowish, curved object is visible in the background. The text "Slide forward under the latch tab on the headlamp housing" is written in red inside a red-bordered box, with a red line connecting the text to the arrow.
